

You Will Thank Me

claudiahaas@gmail.com

Running Time: 1 minute

Time: Just before sunrise on a warm day

Place: Overlooking the ocean

Characters:

Jerry (male) 20's, on a mission

Mara (female) 20's, unsure of everything

Note: Mara should be sporting a cap or a kerchief. She has no hair.

You Will Thank Me

AT RISE Jerry is bringing MARA forward to an edge. MARA is blindfolded.

MARA: You are so evil. Witch-evil, wicked-evil, devil-evil -

JERRY: Not a bit.

MARA: The Blindfold –

JERRY: Necessary.

MARA: The long car ride in the middle of the night –

JERRY: You will thank me.

MARA: I'm sick!

JERRY: That's why.

MARA: At least take off the blindfold!

JERRY: Soon.

MARA: You keep saying that!

JERRY: Real soon.

MARA: JERRY!

(JERRY puts his hand over her mouth to “shush.” Her. The lights brighten. JERRY takes the blindfold off. It is sunrise over the ocean.)

JERRY: Look, Mara.

MARA: It's –

JERRY: Sunrise.

MARA: It's–

JERRY: It's rising out of the ocean -

MARA: It's - perfect. Thank-you.

End of Play

